

iREAP® Summary Report for Summer Time

Reap the rewards of engagement.

Contents

Section 1	Motivations	3
	What motivations are most important to you right now?
Section 2	Alignment	4
Section 2	Most fulfilling and dissatisfying work aspects. How w	ell vour
	motivations are aligned in your current work?	cii youi
Section 3	Engagement	6
	How engaged you are with your current organisation?
Section 4	Profile	7
	Your overall profile result, the opportunities and risks for your employer	ou
Section 5	Development Strategies	9
	Recommended development strategies for your profile.
Section 6	Conversations	10
	Tips on how to have an effective conversation and an act template.	ion plan

Section 1: Motivations

Your motivations are unique. Our research has showed there are six different categories of motivation. See the diagram below as they are represented as different blades of a propeller. Also see the table to reveal which of your motivational blades are most important to you. The maximum score for each is 10.

Belonging7.67ModerateExpertise8.50HighSelf Actualisation7.50ModerateWork-Life6.75ModerateAltruism8.33High	Security	6.40	Moderate
Self Actualisation 7.50 Moderate Work-Life 6.75 Moderate	Belonging	7.67	Moderate
Work-Life 6.75 Moderate	Expertise	8.50	High
	Self Actualisation	7.50	Moderate
Altruism 8.33 High	Work-Life	6.75	Moderate
	Altruism	8.33	High

It is important for you to not make value judgements on whether a high or low score is good or bad. It is neither good nor bad. It just is a score. This means it is merely a reflection of what is important to you right now, at this stage in your life, and at this stage in your career. Your current motivational drivers are perfect for you right now - if they are serving you well.

If your motivational drivers are not being expressed effectively in your work or personal life then an intervention is warranted. If they are, then congratulations, because you have been very successful in navigating your pathway through life!

Section 2: Alignment

The iREAP® profile has measured your levels of satisfaction at this point in time in your current role.

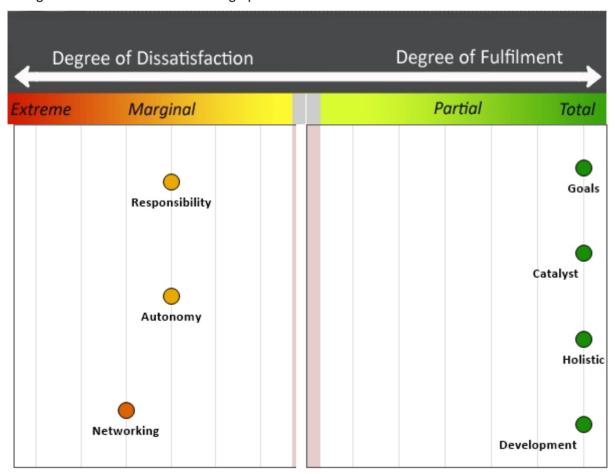

Your satisfaction levels are likely to change over time but right now, the way you feel about the aspects listed below determine your overall level of motivational alignment. There are six work aspects for each of the six motivational blades.

The measure of how well your needs are being met overall for the 36 aspects of work is called alignment.

Your fulfilment and dissatisfaction results

The graph below shows only those aspects of work that you find the most fulfilling in your current role and the aspects you find most dissatisfying. Not all 36 aspects of work are shown.

The arrows at the top of the table indicate how fulfilling or dissatisfying each aspect is for you. Points moving further from the middle of the graph indicate more extreme or definite results.

Graph Legend

The aspects highlighted in your graph are the most satisfying and most dissatisfying for you at this point in time. This legend shows the actual blade that each of these work aspects relates to and what it means.

- Networking Developing networks within my profession
- Responsibility Taking full responsibility for my actions and decisions in my work
- Autonomy Having choices about how, when and where I work
- Goals Working in a group with shared goals
- Development Developing new skills and knowledge in my area of work
- Holistic Developing all aspects of myself
- Catalyst Being a catalyst for change and improvement in the community and society

Your Alignment Score is -0.49 HIGH

A high value means that many of your most important motivational needs are being met really well in your current role and you have a good job-fit. Please note that you answered 3 of these work aspects as non-applicable and this needs to be taken into consideration when interpreting the results of your report. Ideally for the results to be reliable this number should not be more than 8.

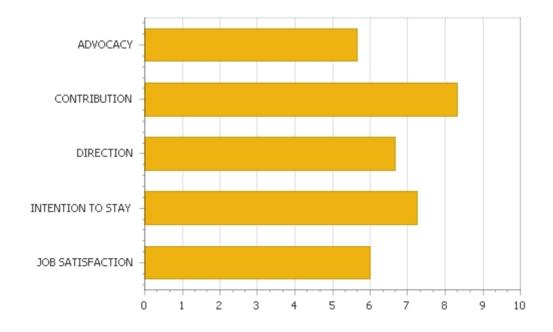

Section 3 - Engagement

The profile measures your overall level of engagement and commitment towards the organisation that you work for. The iREAP measures three different components:

- 1. Intention to Stay: how emotionally attached you are and willing to continue working with your current workplace.
- 2. Contribution: how inclined you are to take on other responsibilities and invest time, energy, ideas and effort at work.
- 3. Direction: the extent to which you agree with the direction of organisation and willingness to pursue the work priorities of your manager / section / department.
- 3. Advocacy: whether you feel you can be yourself at work and how well you think of your organisation.

The bar chart below shows your results for your level of engagement with your current organisation. Essentially the longer the bars the more engaged you are.

Your Engagement Score is: 7.00 MODERATE

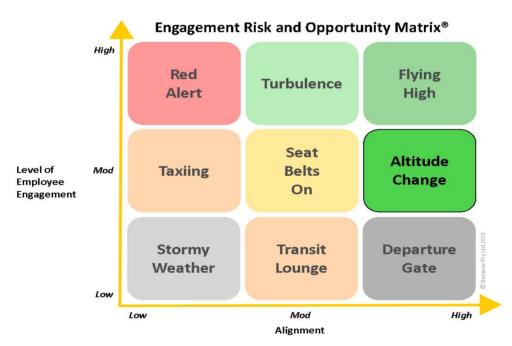

Section 4: Profile

This part of your report profiles where you sit in the Engagement Risk and Opportunity Matrix. It then looks at the risk to you and your organisation of your current level of engagement and alignment of your motivations. The matrix has nine cells and your profile results place you in the cell that best describes your current situation.

This part of your report profiles where you sit in the Engagement Risk and Opportunity Matrix. It then looks at the risk to you and your organisation of your current level of engagement and alignment of your motivations. The matrix has nine cells and your profile results place you in the cell that best describes your current situation.

Altitude Change

You have excellent alignment between what you need and what you are getting in the workplace. You should be pleased, as this is not always easy to achieve so well done on achieving a good fit. Altitude Change means that you are not fully engaged with your organisation. This might be because you are very competent and capable and don't need to invest extra effort to perform your work tasks and achieve priorities. Or you may have made a conscious choice to conserve your energy or to balance your commitments across multiple roles and areas of your life.

Work performance and delivery of desired outcomes can be managed very effectively in Altitude Change. However, you might reserve some of your energy and engagement for other priorities such as family commitments, study, vocational interests, sport and hobbies and community responsibilities. Or you might be growing into your role, learning how things work and building competency and connections with people in the organisation.

Opportunities

Altitude Change can present opportunities for:

- sustained contributions and solid performance over time
- further capacity to stretch and grow
- conserving energy and momentum
- being "in-flow" with your motivational needs and what your work provides
- effective management of priorities for a healthy work-life balance

Risks

Risks of Altitude Change include:

- not balancing multiple work and personal priorities well
- not being seen by others as committed enough
- not putting enough focus on your own professional and career development
- getting too comfortable and not seeking stretch and challenge opportunities.

Section 5 : Development Strategies

Your engagement score was MODERATE. This means your engagement development effort might be best focused on sustaining, improving or examining in more detail what is driving your engagement level.

You have been profiled as ALTITUDE CHANGE in the iREAP. The development opportunities for people in this cell include:

Development recommendations for ALTITUDE CHANGE include:

💸 Make sure you have clear performance expectations and have documented the performance outcomes you achieve at work on a regular basis.

Seek opportunities to increase engagement

- working flexibly so that you can more effectively accommodate other competing
- working smarter but not necessarily harder by focusing on being productive and efficient at work
- looking for ways to gain greater leverage from other resources (people, technology, networks)
 - Setting yourself a challenge.

Creating a personal and career development plan.

Specific development actions suggested for someone in ALTITUDE CHANGE are to:

lpha Identify your current strengths and how you could have greater leverage of those strengths our time at Assess how you currently spend your time at work and identify time wasters.

🗱 Eliminate aspects of your work which do not add value or tasks that could be delegated.

ould need to change for you to be more engaged and committed to your organisation.

Seek support from a coach or mentor.

🍀 Prepare a development plan and stick to it.

Section 6 - Conversations

The final stage is for you to dive deeper into your results by having some conversations. You could decide to work through the insights and implications of your report on your own through further reflection. Or you could decide to work through this report with a trusted friend, coach, mentor or manager.

When working through this report and preparing for a career engagement conversation you might like to reflect more on the following areas:

- o What is most important to you and how is that being given expression in your current
- o How well your work is contributing to the overall goals
- How well you feel their current work is meeting your needs
- o How aligned you feel to the overall direction of your organisation
- What your aspirations are and how well might they be aligned to the future direction
- o Any changes you would like to make to how your work or the work of your area is done
- What changes you might want to make to re-design of your role
- What obstacles or constraints might get in the way of your engagement and performance
- What support and development would you like to continue to have / obtain
- o How you would like to work best with your colleagues and manager
- Specific actions that you would like to see as a result of this conversation

like to bring u	p in conversation	n with your mana	iger or coach.

Action Plan

Please use this information as a guide for you to develop and commit to actions. You might like to create an action plan on your own, with a coach or mentor or through conversation with your manager.

	comes
Now that I've r	ead this report,	the two or th	ree outcomes I	will achieve are:	:
Action step	3
Action step		vo those outs	omos aro:
	il take to achie	ve these outco	omes are:
		ve these outco	omes are:
		ve these outco	omes are:
		ve these outco	omes are:
		ve these outco	omes are:
		ve these outco	omes are:
		ve these outco	omes are:
		ve these outco	omes are:
		ve these outco	omes are:
		ve these outco	omes are:

Integrity of Use

The individual Role Engagement Alignment Profile™ has been carefully developed to meet high professional and ethical standards. This report is not intended and should not be used for the assessment of the respondent's performance, potential or any decision related to employment including promotion or termination. In case of concerns about the integrity of the application of this instruments please contact Because by emailing support@because.com.au

Disclaimer

This report is confidential to the respondent and should not be used for any purpose without the respondent's consent. The report is designed for use in conjunction with appropriate career management advice and is not intended to be a substitute for qualified and professional advice. Because Pty Ltd, its officers, the author and editor will not be liable for any action taken or not taken as a result of relying on any information provided in this report.

Copyright

Because Pty Ltd owns the copyright of this document and all rights are reserved. No part of this report may be reproduced by any means without prior permission in writing from Because Pty Ltd.

Contact

Pamela Frost
Director
Because Pty Ltd
Reap the rewards of engagement
1300 865 790
www.because.com.au
baljeet.matta@gmail.com

